Our City Comment & discussion

A. Should be Safeguarded.

THE city council of Glendale is having difficulty deciding on which company of two applicants to grant a permit to operate buses.

Councilmen are desirous of solving the problem to the best interests of our city. In order to do this they are calling on the people for advice.

At tomorrow night's meeting of the council the bus question will be considered and all citizens who can do so are urged to attend.

THIS bus question is of the utmost importance to Glendale and its proper solution will undoubtedly affect the city's future. It has been our opinion that the proposition of the Pacific Electric was the best, mainly for the reason that its offer provided for the interchange of transfers between bus and street car.

This means quite a saving in money for those using the bus as a means to reach Los Angeles via the car line. As far as local transportation is concerned, both companies offer practically the same thing.

IN setting this matter we must give consideration to the citizens who live in Glendale but earn their livelihood in Los Angeles. There are a great many of these citizens and they are loyal to Glendale. So Glendale in turn should respect their wishes in this matter.

THOSE opposed to granting the P. E. this permit are using the argument that they do not favor it because it would make a monopoly of transportation in Glendale. As mentioned in these columns before, a franchise for a number of years' duration is not being asked for by either company. All they are applying for is a permit to operate buses. This permit could be so worded as to make it revocable at short notice. This holds the proposition subject to supervision of our city council. If at any time the service should be unsatisfactory the permit could be cancelled forthwith.

WE hold that under these conditions Glendale would be provided with better service by the P. E. than a competing company. From a business standpoint a company that is making money can afford to make improvements to furnish better service than it could if its income is reduced. A competing company will not cut into the profits of the railway company. If this is done we must not be disappointed if present service is not improved, either as regards the adding of equipment or reducing of fares.

This monopoly cry we think is more a matter of propaganda than anything else. With a revocable permit there is nothing to it, in fact.

JOSEPH WHITE ARRESTED, DETAINED ON SUSPICION

Joseph White, whose address could not be learned, was arrested at 1 o'clock this morning by Motor Officer La Rock, and is being detained on suspicion. It is claimed by the police department that White has been hanging around Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank for several nights. He was locked in Jail No. 1.

CITY'S SCHOOLS GETTING READY FOR WORK

High School Half-day
Sessions for Present
Are Necessary

HIGH SCHOOL. Principal George U. Moyle states that under the half-day session plan adopted for Glendale High until it is able to take possession of the new plant at Broadway and Verdugo road, juniors and seniors will come in the morning for class sessions which will run from 7:30 to 1 p. m. Sophomores and Freshmen will come at 12 m. and leave at 4:30. There will be an overlapping period between 12 and 1 o'clock. This means that the accustomed study periods at the school will be eliminated. The morning students will prepare for their recitations at home during the afternoon and evening, the freshmen and sophomores doing their studying the morning at home.

Whenever there is an interval between classes students will be permitted to study in the study hall. Study on the campus will be discouraged.

There will be no enrollment for classes until Tuesday morning and it will follow the general program, i. e., seniors and juniors will be expected to present themselves at 9 o'clock, and freshmen and sophomores in the afternoon at 1 o'clock.

To avoid congestion the enrollment will be made at tables on the school campus over which teachers and office clerks will preside.

At the first table enrollment blanks will be filed and students will receive copies of the handbook of the school containing the courses of study in the program of the year. Each student will receive also a blank program which he or she will fill out for studies desired with the aid of the handbook. After thus working out their programs students will pass to the various tables reserved for the subjects they have chosen. When one class is filled, enrollment for another class will be started.

There will be no advance enrollment for the reason that all under graduate students who were in the school last June, and all graduates from grammar schools of the district filled out at that time enrollment cards which are now on file.

High school students from outside districts who wish to attend Glendale High the coming year are asked to present themselves Tuesday with students already enrolled, turning in their credits. These credits will be considered by the school authorities Tuesday evening and class assignments for the year will be made. The students will then register on Wednesday morning.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS. Routine business occupied the Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday evening. Bids were received for the heating of Columbus Avenue School and the contract was awarded to the Hammel Radiator company on a bid of $1448.50.

Bids for the heating of Cerritos Avenue School were rejected without opening because the specifications were not satisfactory. Architect Priest was instructed to prepare plans and

BOTH LOST, BOTH WON IN FOURTH, YET NO KNOCKOUT

The flyweight championship is still in doubt. Or might it be said that there are two champs in the flyweight division? There is a question.

Here's why: Gene Larue, Canadian flyweight champion and Kid Panch, claimant of the Southern championship in this division, met in the roped arena last night. Each hit the other with everything but the referee's chair and the water bucket, but the attack of neither seemed to do a great deal of damage.

The real fireworks came in the first five seconds of the fourth round of the scheduled 12 round bout. At the sound of the going both boys bounced from their corners as though shot from guns. Neither gave a great deal of thought with regard to formality, but as they reached the center they let go haymakers that must have been heard for miles—at least the principals believed this to be a fact.

Down the midguts went, both claved at the canvas as though endeavoring to catch the birds that floated before their eyes. Then they rolled over on their backs, content to listen to the sweet music in peace.

The referee counted the usual ten seconds but the little ones did not stir—they hated to interrupt the symphony.

The question remains—who's the champ?

Specifications for such heating plant and a new advertisement will be placed for bids.

The bids for clocks received last week were all rejected because of changes in specifications. Business Manager Black was instructed to advertise for new bids.

Bids were received on sidewalks for Doran Street School but no action taken. Mr. Black being instructed to investigate the matter further and report.

On printing bids the award went to Clinton Hugo, who submitted the lowest bid.

As the old school building at Magnolia is in a very unsatisfactory condition, and the Board of Education would like, if funds are available to replace it by the building of new rooms, Business Manager Black was instructed at the meeting of the board Tuesday night to communicate with the county counsel in regard to the legal procedure to be followed to ascertain whether the building of two additional rooms could be included in the present contract, or whether it would have to be advertised as a separate one.

Business Manager Black reported to the board that the assessment for the opening and widening of Gardner Avenue against the Acacia avenue school frontage would amount to $361.80, he understood, although no official assessment bill had been rendered. He had consulted members of the city council to ascertain whether its appropriation for the improvement of streets fronting schools would be available for this assessment, and had been informed that all the money in that fund had already been appropriated. As no assessment had been received no action was taken by the board.

Preliminary sketches of the new school to be built at Cerritos avenue were submitted to the board by Architect Arthur Lindley. They were discussed but no definite action taken.

Business Manager Black reported that it would cost $350 to finish for use for storage purposes, a 40-foot room under the north wing of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate.

He was authorized to have the work done.

The board voted to close its offices and give a holiday to all school employees September 10 to be celebrated as Admission Day.

The board authorized the printing of a course of study in home economics.

A meeting of the teachers' committee of the Board of Education composed of Mesdames Barton and Brown and Superintendent White, was called for Thursday morning to fill vacancies on the teaching staff. One of these will be for assistant supervisor of music, Mrs. Ertas Kent having been granted a year's leave of absence. The serious illness of Mrs. Alta Gaynor, teacher of manual training, will make the appointment of a substitute necessary. Miss Romayne Latta, who was elected, has declined to teach in Whittier instead.

PROSPERITY NUMBER OF GLENDALE DAILY PRESS ISSUED FRIDAY SEPT. 7

A Great Edition Setting Forth in Fullest Detail the Marvelous Growth of This Wonder City of the Pacific Slope

GLENDALE DAILY PRESS GROWS WITH CITY
History and Future Programs of Civic Organizations,
Fraternal Orders, Churches, Schools, Business and Industrial Plants Etc., Will Be Outlined

The Glendale Prosperity number of the Daily Press, which will attempt to show how Glendale is growing, to depict in word and picture the unprecedented era of advancement that this "fastest growing city" is experiencing, and that will endeavor to forecast the events that are scheduled to occur during the coming few months in club and civic circles in Glendale, will be published on Friday, September 7. It will be circulated as the regular edition of that paper on that day.

The expression, "attempt to show," is used advisedly, for it is next to impossible for any medium to accurately depict how Glendale has advanced during the past few years. The growth and progress has been so universal and so general in every section of the city that it would be almost impossible to accurately describe all of the advancement that has been made.

That Glendale has advanced at a remarkable rate is known to everyone. The question is, however, "How fast has the city grown?"

Few people realize what has been done. Seldom do the residents of this city stop to "take stock." They know that things are going ahead at an extremely gratifying rate, that property values are doubling almost over night, that the population of the city is daily being reinforced by home-seekers from the north, the east and the south—live, wide-awake folks who have heard of the charms of this locality and have come to "see for themselves."

No matter what state they are in from they are ready to be shown, and Glendale is one place that lives up to its reputation.

But not alone will this edition sing the praises of Glendale as a city, although a thousand pages could be given to telling the wonderful things that are going on. This number will be issued, also, to herald the removal of the Glendale Daily Press into its own new home at 333 North Brand boulevard.

The Glendale Daily Press is an institution of which the city should be proud. It represents, now, an investment of practically $200,000. The ground on which the building is situated has an actual valuation of $65,000. The two-story 100-foot front building cost $60,000 to erect, and the up-to-the-minute equipment has a valuation of about $89,000. These are actual valuations and are not "inflated" in any way.

This special number, then, will be to inform the people of Glendale that the new home of the Daily Press is now being occupied. This paper is now modern in every way. It is capable of and willing to serve the people of Glendale in their every newspaper needs. Its future, as has its past, will be given over to singing the praises of Glendale, to affording a "square deal" to everyone in a newspaper way.

He was authorized to have the work done.

The board voted to close its offices and give a holiday to all school employees September 10 to be celebrated as Admission Day.

The board authorized the printing of a course of study in home economics.

GREAT DISASTERS MAKE WHOLE WORLD KIN

Glendale Folk Still in Suspense About Relations
in Japan

DR. SCHERER IN DANGER ZONE
Mrs. Frank Mosher of 118½ South Kenwood, is the daughter of Dr. J. B. Scherer, who was for 12 years president of California Institute of Technology, Pasadena. Dr. Scherer is one of a party of 11 who were on a trip around the world and were to be in the danger zone of the Japanese disaster, as they were scheduled to arrive in Nikko, home of the Japanese royal family, on August 31, the day of the quake. It is said a wireless message was received last night from Dr. Scherer, stating that all his party were safe, but this can not be confirmed.

KURANAGA'S FEAR FOR KIN
Glendale, like all the rest of the world, contains citizens who are torn with anxiety about loved ones in Japan, who may have suffered or lost their lives in the awful disaster that has overtaken that island.

Mrs. Kuranaga, wife of the proprietor of the Japan Art and Tea company of 135 South Brand, this city, is prostrated and confined to her bed as a result of the catastrophe and her uncertainty concerning the fate of members of her family. Both she and Mr. Kuranaga, besides a large family connection, have a host of old friends who are dear as relations, in Tokio and Yokohama.

Mr. Kuranaga is deeply appreciative of the sympathy and response of America and the fact that it is speeding its battle ships to the scene to render all the aid possible, and the prospect that relief in money and supplies will be dispatched from this country in response to the president's proclamation as rapidly as possible.

He, himself is advertising in this paper and in all other ways that beginning today, 10 per cent of all the sales of his store will go to the relief fund.

He says this response on the part of America will do much to heal any misunderstandings between the two countries which have been fomented, he declares, by a jingo element in both countries, which did not represent the real spirit of either country.

Ever since Commodore Perry opened the ports of Japan to American commerce, the country has made wonderful progress and its people feel they owe their western civilization chiefly to America. So strongly attached is he to the land of his adoption, the United States, that he declares, in the event of war, regardless of the ties that bind him to Japan, he would defend the American flag. Though not able to take out papers, he is an American citizen at heart.

The reports of the disaster he has read indicate that the damage was worst in the business sections and fine residence districts where the buildings supposed to be earthquake proof, collapsed. He referred especially to the destruction of the Imperial hotel, the finest building in Tokio, which it took 51 months to construct and which was designed and directed by Los Angeles architect. As a precaution against destruction the foundation was floated on liquid mud, confined within walls and the building anchored by piles. It was supposed to be earthquake proof.

Mrs. A. L. Ferguson's Brother
Mrs. A. L. Ferguson of 525 N. Jackson street has been informed by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Dickover of Santa Barbara, that a cablegram had been received by them on Monday from her brother, Erle R. Dickover, who is the United States Consul at Kobe, Japan, stating that he was safe. Kobe is about 300 miles south of Tokio. No further word has been received from Mr. Dickover, but from newspaper accounts of the earthquake and tidal wave disaster, Mrs. Ferguson has learned that her brother has commanded several shipping board vessels to send relief to Tokio.

HAS YOUR BIKE STRAYED AWAY?

Two bicycles were found by Officers Blake and Hamilton at the corner of Park and Brand at 1 o'clock this morning. An attempt is being made to locate the owners of these wheels.

DAILY PRESS WANT AD BRINGS FORTY REPLIES IN 3 DAYS

Just as the "proof of the pudding is in the eating" so the efficiency of Glendale Daily Press classified advertising is demonstrated in the results obtained by advertisers. For example, Messrs. Ellis & Pendergast inserted an advertisement for a manager for an oil filling station to be opened in Glendale by a large oil company operating its own refineries. This ad. was run for three days only and during that time over forty replies were received. One of the requirements for the position advertised was that a $500 cash bond would be required. Messrs. Ellis & Pendergast state that the results of their advertising was indeed remarkable.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE BENNER HOME FROM TRIP

Has Great Plans for New and Increased
Work

Returning from a two weeks' vacation in the mountains of Oregon, Scout Executive Harold F. Benner was at his desk this morning fully rejuvenated and with a dusty coat of tan on his face and arms. This is the first real vacation Mr. Benner has had for three years and he says that he is fully rested and keen to be in the harness again.

In telling of his trip Mr. Benner says: "We left Glendale Saturday morning, August 18, and motored to Roseburg, Oregon, where I have a brother. From Roseburg all of us motored to Portland and on up the Columbia highway. Returning to Roseburg we spent considerable time in the mountains fishing, swimming and hiking."

Mr. Benner says he met with scout executives all up the coast, visiting their camps and talking over mutual scout problems. In speaking of the plans for local scout work in the immediate future Mr. Benner says that the prospects are very rosy for organizing new troops. The Verdugo Hills District now has eleven troops with another one in process of organization, at Tuljunga. He is planning to have at least twenty troops going strong before the end of this year. Five new troops are to be organized in Glendale in the immediate future.

VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED BY RED CROSS FOR DESKS

Mrs. John Robert White, secretary of the Glendale chapter of the American Red Cross, is issuing a call for volunteers to take charge of desks which have been placed in all the Glendale banks in connection with the Japanese relief fund that is being raised by the Red Cross. All volunteers are asked to communicate with Mrs. White at Glen. 2106.

Glendale Press Show and Party for Boys and Girls Turns Out to Be Regular Circus Day "Howling Success"

Glendale Press was host yesterday afternoon to some 600 boys and girls who sat enthralled for two solid hours listening to the splendid entertainment that the Press provided for them.

The program consisted of a cornet solo by Miss Evelyn S. Schlusser; songs by Miss Annie Laurie Caplinger, "the girl with the silver throat," Miss Morgan at the piano; an Apache dance by Miss Maryward Lidstone, "the original Cinderella slipper girl," and solo selections by Miss South, violinist, late of the Venice orchestra. Mrs. Woods' Kleeve Kiddies in their clever numbers literally took the house by storm. A whistling solo by one of them was one of the most enthusiastically applauded features of the program. Mrs. Woods proved a past-master in the art of handling boys and girls and made friends of every child present.

The Circulation Department treated them all to candy and later took a moving picture which will be shown soon at the Gateway theatre. Mr. Elias of the Elias Studio was on hand with his Graphlex to take a close-up of the cheering kiddies in front of the building.

The management of the Press wishes to thank the boys and girls for their ready response and cheerful co-operation at the party. And everyone in the building goes on record as saying that the hospitals of the country will starve to death before they work over any defective lungs among these children. Metaphorically we might say that the roof of the building is today being remedied—having been raised considerably—due to their concentrated yelling.

RED CROSS WILL RECEIVE RELIEF MONEY

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale chapter of the American Red Cross received official instructions to make arrangements to receive subscriptions for earthquake sufferers in Japan and this morning she and Mrs. John Robert White negotiated with the various banks of the city to have tables where Red Cross members would receive such subscriptions as Glendaleans desire to give. The Red Cross has been designated by President Coolidge as the official vehicle for the collection and transmission of relief funds.

The telegram reads as follows: San Francisco, Sept. 4, 1923. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Chairman, Glendale Chapter American Red Cross, Glendale, Calif.:

National headquarters requests all Red Cross chapters to be prepared to receive and promptly transmit to the division office contributions of money from the public. The same should be designated as for Japan earthquake relief. Names of donors should be referred to division office in duplicate. Chapters should not appropriate from chapter funds without further instructions. National headquarters has made appropriation. President Coolidge designates Red Cross as the authorized American agency for relief.

WILLIAM CARR HUNT, Manager. Tuesday night, at the meeting of directors of the chamber of commerce, the question of receiving contributions for Japan came up for consideration and the chamber voted inasmuch as the Red Cross has the matter in hand it should be the official handler of the money.

SIGNS ON POLES DISCUSSED, BUT NO ACTION TAKEN

"I think it is a shame the way different firms are permitted to disfigure the city by tacking or pasting signs on the light and telephone poles of this place," said Councilman Horn at the meeting of the council Tuesday night.

"Some time ago I took this matter up with the council and nothing definite was done at that time. I notice that the companies have resorted to pasting the signs to the poles so that it is practically impossible to tear them off. These companies make no attempt to remove them after putting them up. It seems to me that something should be done by this board in regard to this matter. I notice that signs or posters have been pasted to the poles at the corner of Broadway and Maryland. This should be stopped."

After being informed by the city clerk that there is an ordinance governing this point and that this prohibits the tacking, pasting or otherwise hanging signs to the poles, Councilman Horn said:

"Then I think this ordinance should be enforced to the limit."

"I notice that this practice is indulged in by a large number of the local merchants," said Councilman Davis. "What are you going to do with them?"

"That is a hard problem to solve," said Councilman Horn, "but it seems as though everyone would have to obey the laws."

GARVER AND LUCAS FAMILIES ENJOY FISHING TRIP

Catch 198 and Kill Monster Baby-Devouring Tarantula

N. D. Garver and Mrs. Garver, with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lucas, have returned from a five days fishing trip to Sweetwater Dam, 15 miles southeast of San Diego. Although Mr. Garver says the biggest one got away, taking the hook, line, sinker, and all, but climbing out on the bank for more, the catch was worth keeping tally on, amounting to about 198 fish, all told. The majority of these were catfish. During the spring months, beginning in April, the lake is filled with big mouth black bass, but the catfish are practically the only fish to be caught there now, Mr. Garver says.

Offsetting Mr. Garver's story about the big one that got away, Mrs. Garver caught two on one line. Aside from the pleasure of the lively fishing trips which were all carried on by moonlight owing to the peculiarities of the fish, there is a well-kept vacation resort at the lakeshore. This is in charge of Mr. De Ford who is a splendid host, according to Mr. Garver. There are boats which rent out for a dollar for twenty-four hours, or fifty cents a half day. The water is so pure that it is used in the batteries of the automobiles, just as it comes from the lake.

COUNCIL FAVORS GIVING AID TO JAPAN

The matter of the city of Glendale assisting in a small way the earthquake sufferers in Japan was brought to the attention of the council by Mayor Robinson Monday night.

"It seems as though we should do something to assist these people who are in such terrible trouble," said Mayor Robinson, "but I do not know how far we can go in this matter. What do you think we should do with regard to helping these people?"

"We certainly should do something if it is within our power to do so," said Councilman Horn.

"Should we do this as a city or should we leave it to the individual?" asked Councilman Davis.

"These people are in terrible distress," said Councilman Kimlin, "and we should leave nothing undone that would help them."

The matter was laid over for one week for further consideration.

HYPERION WAY IS STILL FAVORED BY C. OF C.

P. J. Hayselden, chairman of highways and bridges of the Chamber of Commerce, and his able lieutenant, Harry White, submitted reports at the meeting of chamber directors Tuesday evening.

They concerned chiefly the development of highways to afford outlets and inlets to Glendale and relieve congested traffic conditions. The new foothill boulevard which is being promoted by the Santa Monica Boulevard Board of Trade via Hyperion Way was discussed in its relation to Glendale. Mr. White stressed the need to widen the bridge at Los Feliz and Glendale boulevard, and to provide an under-bridge drive. He also approved as did Peter Ferry, another member of the committee, a tunnel under the Southern Pacific tracks at Brand, declaring the fall from the floor of such tunnel would be sufficient to carry off all water to the river.

EVERY DETAIL IMPORTANT IN MOVIE SCENES

Genius has been described as being a combination of patience plus the ability to take care of infinite detail. Especially is this true in the case of motion picture directors.

Many big pictures have been marred because proper attention was not paid to details. The photograph patron in watching the screen has frequently noticed a man leaving a room minus a hat and enter another room wearing a hat. Again, a woman will be shown walking out of a library wearing one gown and immediately afterwards entering a living room-reclined in still another.

Such details must be constantly watched and a truly great director possesses a memory for these little things that is marvelous.

An example of the hawk-like watchfulness that is constantly necessary occurred in connection with the filming of "Temptation," the six-reel production which comes to the T. D. & L. Theater commencing today.

One of the big scenes called for the services of two hundred "extras" in evening clothes. The director had been rehearsed—the director had shouted "Camera!" when a moment later the megaphone man blew his whistle bringing everything to an abrupt halt.

Wondering what had occurred, all eyes were turned to the director. He singled out two extras in the foreground and called attention to the fact that while they were immaculately clothed in evening attire their heels were run down. Within ten minutes correct footwear had been obtained and the shooting was resumed.

Such attention to detail played an important part in the successful filming of this production. Edward J. Le Saint, who directed "Temptation," has provided the screen with a masterful work. Described as being a vital story of restless wives and discontented husbands, it presents such popular local favorites as Bryant Washburn, Eva Novak, June Elvidge, Phillips Smalley, Vernon Steele.

ONLY SIX TAKE CARRIER EXAMS

Only six of the fifteen or more who enrolled for the civil service examination for carrier clerk conducted at the Glendale post office last Saturday morning showed up. Four of those were men who are now temporary employees of the office and who desire to make themselves eligible for permanent positions. No returns on the examination have yet been received.

GLENDAL PRESS BALL TEAM PLAYS NEWTON HUSKIES

The Glendale Press baseball team will play the Newton Electric team tonight on the high school grounds at 7:30 o'clock under the Glendale Community Service league schedule. On Tuesday night the City Engineers won from the Post Office team by default.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The first meeting of the season for the La Crescenta Improvement association will be held at the school auditorium Thursday evening, Sept. 6. H. W. Wright, supervisor for the fifth supervisory district will be present to talk on the road improvement plan for the coming year and a general discussion of road matters will be taken up. The fire protection situation one of the most important issues in this territory, will also be up for discussion and it is hoped every resident in the valley will take a personal interest in this meeting.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turck will be happy to learn that they are planning the erection of a permanent home here, on their lot in the Brown-Jamvier tract. Mr. and Mrs. Turck are residing in Glendale at present, having recently returned from a two months' stay in La Jolla.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culberson of Michigan and Montrose avenues, entertained a group of relatives at dinner yesterday. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson and son Jack of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Saunders and son Jack of Pasadena, and Daniel Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hauber and Miss Marguerite Hauber, accompanied by Mrs. C. Holz and daughter, Miss Bertha of Los Angeles, motored to Santa Barbara for the week-end.

Mrs. J. S. Conlin returned Saturday from an extended stay at her ranch at Pala, Calif.

Miss Ethel Dewey of Chicago, was the honor guest at a buffet supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nittleton of 141 East Mayfield avenue, last Sunday evening. Other guests included Dr. and Mrs. Richard Dewey and Donald M. Dewey of La Canada, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Anderson, Miss Della Bastable, Mrs. Gertrude Haggart, Homer A. Baldrige and Daniel Cook. Miss Dewey leaves for her home in Chicago, Saturday, after a delightful visit with her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Dewey of La Crescenta.

Mrs. C. H. Sayles of Madera, Calif., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Armstrong of 149 East Mayfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reynolds were guests of relatives in Los Angeles, for the week-end.

George Nagel of San Francisco, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hauber of South Ramsdale, avenue for the past week. Mr. Nagel is assistant superintendent of the Bass-Hunter Paint company of San Francisco, and has just completed a successful business trip throughout the east and middle west, combining a short vacation period, visiting his relatives and natives of the Hauber family in Ohio.

Dean Culberson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culberson, leaves tomorrow for Ithica, New York, where he will be a student at Cornell for the coming year. Mr. Culberson will stop at Atchison, Kan., Dayton, Ohio, and Chicago, en route where he will be the guest of relatives and friends.

Considerable concern is being felt by the residents of La Crescenta and vicinity over the fate of Mrs. Willis C. Lamott, formerly Miss Miller of La Crescenta, who with her husband, Rev. Lamott, is a missionary at Tokio.

Rev. and Mrs. Lamott have been at Tokio for the last four years teaching at the theological seminary, Meiji Gakuin, and carried on their work under the auspices of the Presbyterian Mission Board of America.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Parks of 380 West Elk avenue are happy over the arrival of their daughter, Miss Doris Parks of San Diego. She arrived in Glendale and will make her home with her parents.

CALVERT CLARK HOME ROBBED

The home of Calvert Clark at 405 West Wilson avenue was entered Sunday while the family was away and thoroughly ransacked. Jewelry, a watch and many other articles were taken, some of considerable value intrinsically and others prized as heirlooms. Fingerprints left in various places by the thieves were recorded by the police and it is hoped the miscreants may be captured.

THAT FATAL 40 WORSE THAN HER FATAL MILLIONS

Huntley Gordon didn't know the railway car at the siding at Fullerton was loaded. He entered it in order to be filmed leaving it, grip in hand and coat over his arm. William Beaudine, director of "Her Fatal Millions," Viola Dana's new Metro vehicle, now at the Glendale Theater, had ordered it, and it seemed to be a simple enough thing to do.

When he entered, however—my, my!—"A real movie star!" "Do you know Mary Pickford?" "Are Viola Dana's eyelashes real?" "Will you give me your picture?" "How can I get into a studio?"

It was a private car, occupied by forty students at a fashionable girls' school, returning to their studies after a week's vacation spent at their Los Angeles homes. They swarmed around Mr. Gordon, cutting off his egress. There was no escape.

Outside, Mr. Beaudine, waiting to take a long shot of the actor leaving the train, wondered what was delaying him. "That's the longest time it's ever taken a man to walk in and out of a train," he remarked.

"I wish you the same," said Mr. Gordon later. "Try it yourself sometime, and see whether you can break away from forty determined screen-struck girls."

Nor was that the end of it. A few days later Mr. Gordon received 40 letters, from one postoffice address. Each of them had written him a letter. It all goes to show that the simple little matter of entering a train may sometimes be fraught with significance.

"Her Fatal Millions" was written by William Dudley Pelley, adapted by Arthur Statter and photographed by John Arnold. Included in Miss Dana's supporting cast are Allan Forrest, Edward Connelly, Peggy Brown, Kate Price, Joy Winthrop and others.

HOW GLENDAL MERCHANTS CAN AID P. O. REVENUE

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson and Assistant Postmaster Hallett are planning visits to business men in this city who have close contacts with eastern home offices from whom they receive advertising that is distributed in this city. In most instances they send on a mailing list and the advertising is addressed, stamped, and mailed to Glendale residents from the home office. Carriers here have the burden of distributing it and the local office gets no credit for the stamps sold.

As the importance of a local office is gauged at Washington largely by its receipts, it has occurred to Messrs. Jackson and Hallett that if local business men would co-operate by having that advertising sent to them and then buy the stamps here, it would add considerable revenue to the office here. Few people realize what it means when an established auto manufacturer sends out a lot of advertising to possible customers whose names the local agent has secured, or when Hart, Schaffner & Marks circulate all the men in a community.

It is a good thing to think about if Glendale business men want to boost their local office and give it a good credit at Washington. The more stamps it sells, the higher the rating there.

What Our Folks Are Doing

Mrs. Ella Richardson, her son Paul and nephew Alexander Richardson, spent the week end at Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woodbury and their two sons of 315 Ceritos have just returned from a week's vacation at Redondo Beach.

Miss Bertha A. Hanson and Miss Dorothy Poppy were dinner guests Monday night of Mrs. L. J. McConnell of 316 South Kenmore, Los Angeles, covers being laid for six.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Parks of 380 West Elk avenue are happy over the arrival of their daughter, Miss Doris Parks of San Diego. She arrived in Glendale and will make her home with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jarvis of Boston, formerly of Glendale, who have been spending a vacation in Southern California, returned Saturday to their eastern home. They have been guests of Mrs. Craig of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hill and Mrs. R. F. Coffey of 504 Riverdale drive are entertaining as their house guest Mrs. E. P. Mayfield of Houston, Texas. A trip to San Francisco and Oakland was recently enjoyed by the party.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Croft and family of 1753 Gardens avenue returned Monday morning from a two weeks' automobile trip to Bishop and vicinity. During their tour they saw Mt. Whitney and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Thimm and Mr. and Mrs. B. Knittle of 1220 South Central avenue, Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins and daughter Ila of Granada street, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Plunkett and daughter Evelyn and Miss Katherine Knaus of 219 West Magnolia avenue, comprised a party of Glendaleans who have just returned from a few days' stay at San Diego and Coronado Beach.

OVER 2000 BABIES IN PERFECT BACK CONTEST

The Perfect Back Baby Contest, which is being conducted by the chiropractors of Southern California for the purpose of locating the babies with the most perfect backs has developed into a much larger affair than first expected. According to a statement made today by L. A. Mabon, who is in charge of the contest, almost every chiropractor who is eligible to make the examinations has written for additional entrance cards as their supply has already been exhausted. Mr. Mabon expected to have close to 2000 babies on the list when the contest came to a close but at the present rate the number will greatly exceed this.

Prizes are to be awarded the babies with the most perfect backs but the foremost thought in the minds of the chiropractors is the sincere desire to help build up the future man and womanhood of the state. Any chiropractor who has contest cards will gladly examine and enter your baby free of charge, providing the youngster is six years of age or under. The details regarding the examinations are then sent to the offices of Mr. Mabon where they are kept on file until the final judging takes place.

There is still time to enter the baby but Mr. Mabon advises doing so at once.

At a short session of the Foothill Improvement association held Tuesday night with Alexander Mitchell presiding, it was decided that the organization would appeal to the city council regarding having non-resident owners of lots in the northwest section of the city clean same of weeds.

The members of the organization also want to get the streets in the vicinity of the Grand View school in condition before school opens in two weeks. The matter of the establishment of a civic center in Glendale was discussed informally and will be taken up for further consideration at a future meeting.

NEW BAND HAS ITS SEVENTH TRYOUT

The seventh rehearsal of the Glendale Community Band, being sponsored by the Glendale Exchange Club and which is one of the music activities of Glendale Community Service, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. Adolph La Bourgeois will have charge of directing. This band is getting ready for a concert to be given about the middle of October. The membership is growing rapidly and is made up of experienced musicians. There is still an opportunity for a good bass player to join the organization.

Unity Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will resume its stated meetings Thursday, September 6. Fish stories will be swapped after the regular order of business, and the question of raising the initiation fee from $85 to $90 will be discussed.

HERMAN PSENNER WEDS MISS BREHME

Popular Young Folk Are Married in Glendale
Catholic Church

"This is tough luck, I'll say." This is how Herman Psenner, member of the popular firm of Psenner Brothers, auto electricians, termed his arrest, kidnapping and incarceration in the Glendale headquarters jail at 9:30 o'clock this morning. As he sat on his bunk in cell in the bridal chamber "Herm" had plenty of time to think over the sins of his past life. His deliberations, however, resulted in the decision that he did not deserve being thrown so ruthlessly into the Glendale "pie house."

You see it was this way: "Herm" has just been married. Only an hour before he had taken Miss Carolyn Brehme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Brehme, 306 South Maryland avenue, as his bride, the ceremony being performed at the Holy Family church of Glendale.

Following the ceremony the wedding party proceeded to the Harriett Mae Tea Room, corner of Harvard and Maryland, where the wedding breakfast was served.

In front of the tea room the bold, bad, kidnapping bandits quietly gathered. On the sides of the wedding car all kinds of clever sayings were written, and the awful boys tied a baby buggy to the rear of the machine.

Anyway, when breakfast was finished the kidnappers entered the restaurant and, picking the victim-groom up bodily, carried him to the car and forced him therein. Then the machine, followed closely by Motor Officers Booth and Baugh, sped to the police station. The kidnappers had a real job in forcing the groom into the cell, the result being that it was necessary to lock three of them in with him—he simply would not be left alone.

A charge of kidnapping was filed against the frightened groom.

An hour later the brand new Mrs. Psenner called at the police station and entered a plea on behalf of her brand new, but much-abused "hubby."

Rev. Father Galvin officiated at the ceremony, preceding which "Ave Maria" Harry Girard played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" on the church organ. The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of flowers and greenery.

The bride, Miss Carolyn Brehme, was gown in peacock colored blue chiffon velvet with hat to match with silver trimmings, and silver slippers and stockings. Her shower bouquet was of pink roses. Miss Eva Brehme, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. She wore a gown of tangerine colored velvet and a large black picture hat. Her bouquet was of yellow flowers. Joseph Psenner, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The wedding party, in addition to the bride and groom, consisted of Albert, Joseph, Charles and Mr. Joseph P. Psenner, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brehm, Frances Brehm and Edward Brehm, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard, Mrs. August Roth, Ernest and Viola Roth of Los Angeles.

Mr. Psenner has been prominent in local business circles for the past three years, starting in a small place on East Broadway and is now head of the firm of Psenner Brother Auto Electric company of 601 South Brand boulevard, which is said to be the largest battery and auto electric company in Glendale. He is also a popular member of the Glendale Council of Knights of Columbus and the Glendale lodge of Elks No. 1289.

Miss Brehme was formerly of Green Bay, Wisconsin, and came to Glendale about two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Psenner will enjoy a honeymoon of two weeks at Big Bear Lake.

SUMMER SERIES CARD PARTIES TO END SEPT. 11

The last of the summer series of card parties being given under the direction of Mrs. T. G. Widmeyer and the home economics section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will be held on September 11 at the tea room of the clubhouse, when the grand prizes for the series will be awarded and there will be special refreshments.

There were eight tables of "500" and bridge at the card party held at the clubhouse on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Widmeyer was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Harley Clough and Mrs. Thiesen. First prize at bridge was awarded to Mrs. A. H. Montgomery and at "500" to Mrs. Clough. At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served.

GLENDALÉ ART CLUB HAS HAD A FULL MONTH

The Glendale Art Club under the able leadership of Mrs. Roy Ballagh is truly receiving some rare treats. During the full month of August the artists and their friends spent two days with the Art Club of Laguna receiving a most fitting inspiration for the progressive work Mrs. Ballagh has outlined for the coming year. On Sunday afternoon at the club's regular semi-monthly meeting at the Glendale library, one of the best lectures in the history of the club was given by Prof. K. L. Lillani, formerly of Bombay, India. He spoke about the "Philosophy of Art" and explained how mysteriously the elements work together in the various phenomena of nature. He spoke of the relation between these elements and the main channels of the human body. It is through these channels that the mind gains its individual experiences of life. He emphatically declared that when the artist is touched spiritually he is inspired and the urge from within is so great that he cannot help but put his experience on the canvas.

Such an art is a real art, which is principally based on religion. Further, he explained that this religion is not any churchism of any clime or country but it is the vital principle of eternal truth and ever-vigilant laws of nature.

In his opinion art is the expression of the soul. It is the language of God to man. Its great object is to awaken the souls of the people to the eternal light within and thus confirm the sense of unity. Our local Art Club is most grateful to Prof. Lillani for his helpful support and are happy to announce that Glendale may soon claim Prof. Lillani as a resident.

The next meeting of the Art Club will be held at the library the third Friday evening of September.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ON BEACH OUTING

A party of Glendale Camp Fire Girls left last evening for a week's vacation at the beach. They intend to stay at Sea View in Santa Monica Canyon. Their guardian, Mrs. Wattress, will accompany them. The party will return Saturday evening.

Those present in the group are: Marjory Brown, Rose Wattress, Anna Marjory Phillips, Viola Van Pelt, Myla Chapman, Josephine Franklin, Jean Welch and Gladys Woodward.

Sons of Veterans' Camp Holds Business Meet

A short business session marked the regular meeting of Auxiliary No. 7 to N. P. Banks Camp No. 22, Sons of Veterans, held Tuesday night at the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Three applications for membership were accepted and Mrs. Chamberlin and daughter of 904 East Acacia avenue and Mrs. J. D. McCune of 1531 Wabasso Way will be initiated at the regular meeting of the auxiliary on the first Tuesday night in October. Mrs. Lula Paugh presided at last night's meeting.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS RETURN FROM OUTING

Weonah Camp Fire Girls of Glendale returned Monday night from their annual camping trip, which was spent this year in the Santa Monica mountains at Crater Camp, along Malibu Creek. They left Glendale on Friday. The pastimes enjoyed by the girls during their stay included hiking in the hills, bathing in the stream, singing around the campfire in the evening, etc.

Those in the party included Marjorie Priault, Helen Wray, Audrey Phillips, Mildred Beaty, Dorothy West, Florence McCoubrey, Hazel Spillsbury and Vada Spillsbury, all Camp Fire members, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Spillsbury of 124 Sinclair avenue, guardians.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO GIVE DINNER DANCE SEPT. 25

A meeting of the cabinet of the Business and Professional Women's club of this city was held in the rooms of the Glendale Commercial school Tuesday evening at which a decision was reached to have the next social meeting of the organization a program - dinner dance to be given at the Tuesday Afternoon club house the evening of September 25, at 6:30 o'clock.

This party will be for members, their escorts and friends, men or women, and as there will be an abundance of room in the Tuesday club house, late applications for tickets will not have to be decried as they were at the last club party. The cabinet decided, however, that reservations must close by September 22.

Dr. Elizabeth Early and fellow members on the program committee will secure talent for the after dinner program and report at the regular business meeting of the full club which will be held next Tuesday evening in the Glendale commercial school rooms at 224 South Brand boulevard, at 7:30 o'clock. At that time a reception and chaperone committee will be appointed and such other arrangements made for the affair as may be necessary.

GLENDALIANS HAVE PLEASANT LABOR DAY PARTY

PROBATION GETS A SETBACK

Judge Doran, a comparatively new member of the bench, recently sent to the penitentiary a number of applicants for probation. This doubtless came to the prisoners as a startling surprise. There had arisen a practice of letting "first offenders" go on probation. To such excess had this been carried that no one convicted for the first time—at least the first time within knowledge of the court—had any reason for apprehension. He could listen calmly to any sort of a sentence, knowing that he was not to be required to serve it.

In the lot that met the disappointment mentioned were desperate characters whose crimes had been committed by violence, or with the utmost deliberation. Judge Doran expressed a thought that had been voiced many times, and that will meet with general endorsement. He said that the way to prevent crime was to make certain the punishment of the criminal. It is clear that with the probation plan operating to the extent that has been sanctioned by more than one judge, the criminal is not certain of punishment. On the contrary he may be reasonably assured of immunity.

Judge Doran is to be congratulated on the firmness of his stand. His attitude represents co-operation with the police authorities. Notwithstanding his drastic treatment of the cases that needed it, probation is not to be utterly condemned. There are isolated instances in which a young offender, not instinctively criminal, has made an error and been deeply penitent. The chances are that such a culprit would reform if freed under conditions, but that once sent to the penitentiary he would develop into an habitual criminal. But burglars and robbers who ask for consideration do not deserve it, and are being confirmed in their courses if they receive it.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

To most Americans the probable element of surprise in the recognition of Mexico will continue to be the delay that marked final success of the plan. Obregon had not been long in office before he commanded the respect of all who had observed his purpose and his strong character. There was a feeling that recognition was being retarded by purely selfish interests, mostly on this side. President Harding had favored the adjustment that has just been perfected, and the opinion of President Coolidge coincided. Americans will be glad that the matter is settled. Great advantage accrues to both peoples.

The restoration of Mexico under Obregon has been a wonder. Doubtless it would have won more attention save that the world was engaged in the settlement of problems more vast. Obregon assumed authority when the land was in a turmoil, scarred by revolution, facing the threat of fresh outbreaks. By his firmness and his even justice, he triumphed over the elements that imperiled Mexico, won the support of former enemies and found himself at the head of a united nation. Circumstances favored his cause. Even the tragic death of Villa, in whose stable adherence to peace there was no occasion for confidence, was a blessing.

Mexico is potentially rich. It is capable of being developed to a high productivity. It is known to have enormous resources, some of them hardly touched. Its great need has been for capital. It is willing to co-operate. It will give the capitalist a chance, and in return asks fair play from him. The national pride of Americans will demand that fair play be accorded. To help Mexico, and to share reasonably in the resulting profits would be good for both countries. But ruthless exploitation could not be tolerated by the residents of either republic.

Recognition of Mexico is likely to go far towards promoting a friendly intimacy with lands farther south. It cannot but have a definite influence tending to promote the interests of the two Americas.

SAVING THE TREES

The theory has been advanced that the forests of this country, now being wantonly destroyed, may be saved by means of airplanes. These are to be used in scattering seed over denuded areas. There may be something in the idea, but no adequate remedy is presented by it. Forestry is a science. That the mere scattering of seeds is to replenish the timber supply is an idea little less than grotesque.

There are vast sections once covered with trees and heavy undergrowth, now turned back to wilderness. The hills stripped of protection have been washed bare of soil. They afford nothing in which seeds might germinate. That part of the mischief has been done, and if there is a way by which it may be undone, it must await the formation of new soil by the passing centuries.

The way to save the forests from utter destruction is to cease destroying them. When standing timber is attacked by the ax only the merchantable trees should be disturbed. For every one of these another tree should be planted immediately. There is no occasion to wait for salvation by airplane. The woodsmen are permitted not only to cut the trees fit for lumber, but they devastate the entire tract. Often they leave nothing but a scarred and barren surface. The young trees have disappeared, and with them vanished the undergrowth with its capacity for holding moisture and stabilizing the soil. Then the case is hopeless. A season's rains, and there is nothing to greet the eye but a desolation.

CONCERNING DISCIPLINE

Discussion of the theory that it is wrong to say "Don't" to a child, or to place any inhibitions on the development of the juvenile mind and conduct, is likely to be renewed by an incident reported from Chicago. A policeman engaged in the effort to correct his son, aged eighteen, was shot in the back by a second son of sixteen. This restored the peace temporarily, the various units of the melee retiring to hospital or jail, as circumstances seemed to demand. The endeavor to chastise a husky son of eighteen, even when undertaken by a policeman, is likely to be arduous and dangerous. The fault of the young man was that he insisted in being out later at night than seemed to the father to be proper. The son insisted that he was old enough to evade trouble, and to regulate his own hours. The second son intervened for the purpose of quelling the row.

Evidently there had been a lack of discipline in that household. A little child may be made to obey. To do so does not require parental violence. Deprivation of certain privileges dear to infancy will be penalty enough. Then comes the time when the developing intelligence is amenable to reason, and into it has dawned a sense of right and wrong. The child needs guidance. Left to drift without it, its chances suggest those of a lad in an oarless boat on a choppy sea, of reaching a safe haven.

The boy who at eighteen needs a beating, in the judgment of his father, has been neglected in the earlier stages of his life. Either nobody said "Don't" to him, or having said it, failed to enforce the command thus conveyed.

The newspaper writer who habitually asks "do you remember?" propounds the question in relation to the record of Amos Russett. Doubtless he means Russett. In growing reminiscent it is well to be careful as to details.

Los Angeles made in August the biggest building record for any month in its history, the total being $22,249,262. There are only two or three cities in the United States in the same class in this respect. There is no indication of cessation or lessening of activity.

SNAKES AND FITS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

The reason I am writing about snakes is because I've just been told not to. That is the first reason.

The second is that there is prevalent a quite unnecessary fear of them and because people know nothing about them they are forever and a day getting goose flesh for fear they will meet one. Many people are unable to pass the most harmless snake without calling for the constabulary and the smelling salts.

All this is nonsense and due to miseducation.

Rattlesnakes are dangerous—if attacked or provoked. Left alone they are quite peaceful. The rattler's bite treated promptly by an injection of permanganate of potash all around the wound will give no trouble and will heal quickly.

The cotton mouth moccasin of the south, the copperhead, the coral snake of Lower California and the fer lance of the West Indies are things to avoid. In my own garden was once a lovely gopher snake. I cherished him, for he kept the gophers down and did no harm. But everybody who caught a glimpse of his shining body as he sunned himself on the front stoop was seized with a mad desire to kill him. And finally one day when I was away he paid the penalty of being a snake. Somebody killed him just because they saw him.

And I've been plagued by gophers ever since. How do I know all this? Because I've associated with snakes more or less all my life; next because I've read Nogouchi on "Snake Venoms"; third, because I've just had a long conversation with a man who has studied snakes all over the world. He told me things that everybody ought to know. One of them is this: A snake does not stick its tongue out because it is vicious. The tongue is a feeler; it is exceedingly sensitive and by the vibrations of the air striking on the tongue the snake, whose vision is very poor, is able to detect the presence of danger or enemies.

Then here are three rules whereby anybody who has been bitten by a snake and who has later killed it may determine with certainty whether or not the serpent is dangerous. These rules hold only for North America and do not apply in the West Indies or South America, nor even in Mexico. But we are living here, and if we are bitten we are likely to be bitten here.

The shape and breadth of the head is the first distinguishing mark. Most poisonous snakes have very broad heads, especially back of the eyes. And this is certain, no poisonous snake has what is called a parrot's eye, that is an eye with a round pupil. If the pupil is round, like that of the human eye, the reptile is harmless. The poisonous snakes all have eyes with up and down pupils like a cat, except that the pupil of the snake's eye absolutely bisects the colored portion of the eye, dividing it into two sections, right and left.

The third sign is the arrangement of the scales on the belly below the anus. In a harmless snake the scales are locked, coming together in the center with a plaited effect.

In poisonous snakes the rows of scales run straight across in regular formation. This should enable any one accidentally bitten by a harmless snake to take comfort.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Most of us, I suppose, were more or less dislocated by the war. Some of us are yet. Not all of us take our dislocations as did the soldier I met the other day. He had been shipped away to India. Then he got to Egypt and Mesopotamia.

"Honest," he told me, "I didn't know what 'Messpot' was when they shipped me out. I was as ignorant as a calf."

Most of his comrades, he said, whether well or ill educated, took the war and their exile as something to be got through with. They groused most of the time, fought willingly when called on, out of sheer boredom, and only thought of the day of return to England. This ignorant little chap bestirred himself to make the best of it. "I thought I'd find out what it was all about," said he.

So he read up on history and present day facts. He poked about business establishments, and asked questions. He managed to get into native homes. He first created the faculty of observation and then taught it to work. Drop him in a strange town today—I saw him dropped—and in twenty-four hours he will know as much about it as the average mayor.

"If you fight you're luck, you'll be unhappy," he told me. "Those chaps who spent their time grousing about being sent to India spent most two years out of their lives."

We'd call him a live wire. He gives off sparks on contact, instead of lying dead.

THE LISTENING POST

By JAMES W. FOLEY

Many words have a significance in their mere sounds.

Respective of the arbitrary meaning that has been accorded to them.

The making of language has been an interesting process.

But there were few original sources.

Where the sound and the meaning went together.

Our ancient ancestors builded language primitively and simply.

As our ancient ancestors builded shelters.

And made garments.

For our ancient ancestors worked in simple ways.

Having few tools and the rawest of raw materials.

So in language they had the rawest of raw materials.

For there were no root stocks to draw from.

They could not go to the Latin or Greek to find a word.

They made a word to fit a meaning.

And the word sounded like the meaning.

And has persisted to this day.

The original words in language probably were few.

And they increased slowly.

There were words for fear and pain and anger and the expression of the emotions.

And we have words today that fit meanings closely.

Thus there is the word slump, which we read often in the novels and newspapers.

SLUMP.

Take hold of yourself.

Lift yourself up.

Resolve again.

Maintain your ideals.

Don't slump.

There is the public official.

Who enters office with resolve and high purpose.

And then sometimes—

He slumps.

Goes down in a heap.

Collapses.

Indeed, it is a very expressive word.

And too often we have occasion for its use.

Today we set forth with high resolve to do the things we meant to do.

And then for some reason or other—

We slump.

Take hold of yourself.

Lift yourself up.

Resolve again.

Maintain your ideals.

Don't slump.

There is the public official.

Who enters office with resolve and high purpose.

PLANT CONTRACT LET BY ROGER'S TRUCK CO.

The Roger's Una-Drive Truck corporation signed the contract for the erection of the first unit of the contemplated three-unit factory, with the Austin company of California, on Saturday. The three units will be of the Austin steel type, constructed solidly of steel, brass and brick. Each will be 400 feet long and 70 feet wide, located at the foot of Colorado, across the Southern Pacific tracks.

It will take the Austin company about seven days to draw up all the plans and there will be a delay of at least thirty days in getting the permit through the permit office. The dirt will actually begin to fly on the nine acres, which the company has under lease for 98 years, near the 10th of October. It is estimated by H. C. Powell, treasurer, that the first unit should be completed in about 50 days from that date. The approximate cost for each of the three buildings, including wiring and interior fixtures, will run to about $70,000.

As announced by O. H. Roger, president and general manager, the company will take in among the 600 workmen who will be required when the three units of the factory are in operation, as many Glendale men as possible. Outside of the skilled help which will be shifted here to start operations, all the Glendale workmen who can qualify for the work will be taken in. It is the aim of the corporation to make the operation and output of the factory representative of the quality and high standard of Glendale, says Mr. Powell.

The slogan contest, announced last Friday, has already been taken up by local residents with great enthusiasm, according to Mr. Powell and other members of the corporation. They are assured that a wide variety of slogans will be in for the judging after the 15th of this month. The majority of the entries show a lack of emphasis on the idea which the Una-Drive company aims to make the keynote of all their advertising. This is the fact that the Roger's four-wheel drive truck is a Glendale product. Mr. Powell is anxious that the contestants bear this in mind and convey it to the public in their slogans. The award of $100 will go to the person who finds the most effective wording for this idea. All slogans should be addressed to the company, P. O. box 428, Glendale, California, before midnight of the 15th.

De Molays' First Fall Meeting to Be Held Thursday

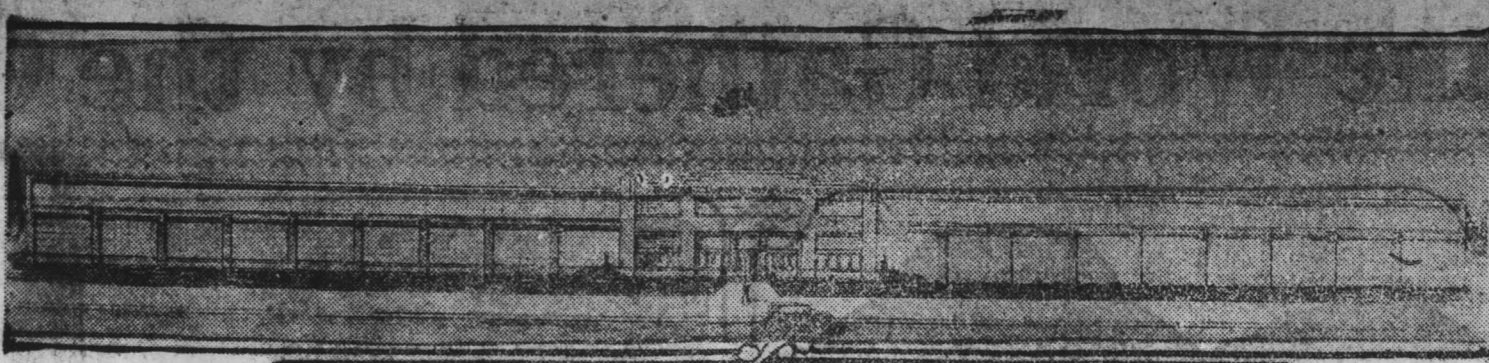

De Molays of Glendale will hold their first meeting of the fall season in the Masonic temple tomorrow evening at 7:30. A large attendance is anticipated by Paul O. Morgan, master, counselor, who states that great enthusiasm has been manifested for the work of the coming season. During the summer no meetings were held, and it is expected that many who have been away for vacation trips will be back and ready for the coming year.

A great deal of business awaits transaction tomorrow evening. Officers to serve the chapter for October, November and December will be chosen. Several petitions for membership will be acted upon, while a number will be read for action next month. Plans for a dance to be held in the near future will be formulated, and advance work will be undertaken for the musical comedy to be staged in October under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Denny.

All members of the local chapter are called to attend the meeting, which will be the most important held for some time. Visiting De Molays and Master Masons are also invited to be present.

INITIATIVE AND ACTION NECESSARY FOR SUCCESS

By S. W. STRAUS, President
American Society for Thrift.

ANNOUNCEMENT recently was made in the press concerning an estate valued at $700,000 which had grown from $50,000 during fifty years of trustee administration. Much interesting comment has been made on the incident and it has been alluded to as an example of thrift.

S. W. STRAUS

The increased value of the estate is a significant illustration of the profit quality of money. It shows what funds will do if allowed to remain untouched during a period of years. But, in the broader sense, the incident is not a lesson in real constructive thrift because real thrift implies initiative and action as well as conservation.

This nation would not have been what it is today if the various fortunes and accumulations of wealth had merely been kept intact and been allowed to grow without the element of personal aggression.

A man who is truly thrifty is not by any means a miser. He understands the value of eliminating waste. He knows what it means to economize. And he knows, too, that mere hoarding is not synonymous with enlightened development.

The first step in individual success must consist of learning to save. "Teach economy," said Lincoln, "that is one of the first and highest virtues; it begins with saving money." But individual development must go further. Economy is the first step. There are many others.

Let us not by any means underestimate the value of saving or minimize the results which come from carefully guarded resources. But if we are to attain the utmost of our personal possibilities we must learn also the value of action. Cold judgment is not all the equipment required for success. Courage and activity are just as necessary.

CONSTITUTION WEEK SEPTEMBER 16th to 22d

Pierson W. Banning, president of Sons of the Revolution, calls attention to Constitution week observance in the following letter:

"The Sons of the Revolution urge every civic and patriotic body and community to observe 'Constitution week,' September 16 to 22, by proper participation in the celebration during that week.

"The importance of reestablishing the Constitution of the United States and the principles and ideals of our government in the minds and hearts of the people must be fully recognized, if this government is to remain a government of laws and not of men."

Every minister who can, is urged to bring the matter as forcefully as possible before the congregation and at such public gatherings as they may have opportunity.

LEGIÓN NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness. Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

This man's navy is going to stage a great show in San Francisco's well known bay during the week of the fifth annual convention of the American Legion, October 15-19.

Wednesday night, October 17, already has been set on the shelf as "fleet night," and if every buddy attending the convention doesn't have a good time that evening it won't be the fault of your Uncle Sam's sea dogs.

The size and extent of the tall doings on fleet night can be judged from the extent of the armada which will drop her in San Francisco bay, beginning October 12. It will be the biggest ever. There will be 12 superdreadnaughts, one armored cruiser, 39 destroyers and smaller craft too numerous to mention or keep track of. And every one of these craft will hold open house on fleet night. There will be dances and high jinks galore, while on the cruiser Seattle, the flagship of Admiral R. E. Coontz, commander in chief of the fleet, probably will be a dress reception for those of high estate.

Most of the vessels, being as anxious as the gobs to meet up with the buddies, will be in San Francisco's anchoring grounds five days before the opening of the convention and will remain in man-o-war row until the end of the month. During that time the fleet personnel will swell quite perceptibly the number of visitors attracted to San Francisco by the convention, there being by actual count 1100 commissioner officers and 20,000 enlisted men.

In addition to this gesture by Uncle Samuel's navy, it is expected several units from foreign countries will be among those present during the San Francisco convention of the legionnaires. If they don't come it won't be because they weren't invited for invitations have been sent to numerous of the allied governments to detail one or more fighting vessels to San Francisco, to participate in the great naval review that is to be part and parcel of the program.

The fleet's contribution to the big show will mean considerable. The fleet will be illuminated every night—and to every person who ever has seen one war vessel alight up that will mean a lot. The gobs will participate in the big parades of the buddies and they will add greatly to the safety and color of each and every occasion.

In addition to everything else, the sailormen will contribute an athletic field day on wet water that will be in itself worth going far to see. These gobs chaps do everything the boys of land do, including boxing, wrestling and football, and in addition they boathrace, swim and do a few other stunts in which deep water plays a part.

C. W. Miles, commander of C. C. Thomas post (the navy post) of the legion in San Francisco is chairman of the naval committee named by Lt. Gen. Hunter Liggett to cooperate with the fleet of officials during the week of the big convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—A national rifle contest will be held during the American Legion national convention week, October 15 to 19, open to state department teams, post teams and individuals belonging to the American Legion.

Valuable prizes will be awarded to both teams and individuals. Contests will be staged on the National Guard rifle range at Leona Heights, Oakland. This range is the largest and finest in the west, covering 600 acres of land and contains targets at all ranges up to and including a thousand yards. The course to be fired will be:

10 shots, 200 yards, offhand Target A, time one minute.
10 shots, 300 yards, rapid fire. Target A, time one minute, ten seconds.

10 shots, 600 yards, slow fire. State and post teams will consist of six members each and all members must be bona fide members of departments represented and residents therein. This rule will not operate to prevent any member of a service organization on duty with his organization with-in any department and not on detached service in competing.

Individuals may compete for individual prizes. The rifle is issued by the United States army, navy or marine corps and any sights recognized by the National Rifle association, without glass, will be permitted.

Ammunition will be furnished to competitors on the firing line. The contests will be governed by rules laid down in "Rifle Marksmanship" except as to offhand position which shall be as used in the national matches this year.

Entries should be addressed to Major W. H. Mallet, chairman rifle shoot sub-committee, American Legion national convention committee headquarters, Palace hotel, San Francisco.

Not since the call to arms at Lexington sent a thrill around the world was there ever heard such a rumble of drums and a chirping of life as will be heard in San Francisco during the coming convention of the American Legion, October 15-19. As for bands—well, just wait and listen!

One of the hundred and one stunts being arranged for the budding convention is a series of band and drum corps contests. To make it interesting, $1,000 in cash prizes will be distributed to each of the winning organizations, in the bands and drum corps contests. A subcommittee of the general committee on entertainment has this feature in hand. Charles H. Cunningham is chairman.

In addition to the cash prizes there will be a number of prizes of music instruments donated by well known instrument houses.

In order to secure a 100 per cent representation of the drum corps

'OLD WIVES FOR NEW' AT THE GATEWAY

Marcia Manon, favorite among intelligent followers of the screen, plays what is for her an unusual role in "The Woman He Loved," which comes to the Gateway Theatre today only, three great showings.

Hitherto associated with society characters of the most ornate description such as she played in Cecil De Mille's "Old Wives for New," Miss Manon proves her versatility by playing a Russian peasant in the new picture. However, as might be expected of so unusual a type, her peasant is by no means a tiller of the soil but a sophisticated woman who plainly is destined for pleasanter living than that afforded by a humble home in Russia.

This promise is borne out when she comes to America with her husband and baby and quickly adapts herself to the ways of the new country, particularly its sartorial ways. But she does not prove so successful in reading character and in consequence listens to a man unworthy to take the place of her husband, who loves her. What happens to the erring wife proves to be a story of uncommon interest for it has no points of resemblance to the usual romance unfolded on the screen. Because it is out of the ordinary, Marcia Manon is at her best in it.

She is one of the few screen favorites who rightfully can claim California as her native state, having been born in Sacramento and educated in the public schools. Her early ancestry follows the history of California very closely, her great grandfather, in fact, establishing the family there during the days of '49.

REBEKAHS HOLD REGULAR MEET

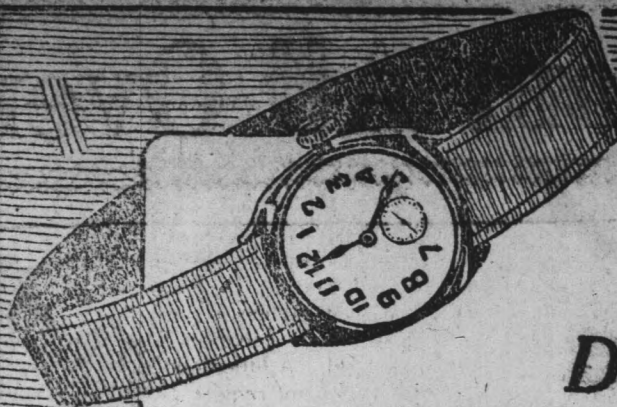

Two members admitted by transfer were welcomed to Carnation Rebekah lodge, which held its regular session Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows' hall. These two were Brother Wendel and Sister Fry.

Two visitors who are members of eastern lodges were also present and warmly greeted. Mrs. Ertel was installed as Left Supporter to Noble Grand, and the regular work of the evening was followed by musical numbers contributed by Misses Zenona and Bernice Kaiser.

Announcement was made that the Carnation Rebekah Social Club will meet Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Miss May Lyman, 619 North Maryland avenue.

and bands of the American Legion, Cunningham has taken it upon himself to write to all the state adjutants, inviting each to see to it that the drum corps and bands of their respective states all participate. In addition, all the Boy Scouts' bands of San Francisco and California will be invited to participate.

THE SIDE ROAD

"I've brought you out here, Al-mira, among all this beautiful bucolic scenery in the hope that it might soften your heart," began the young man who had his best girl touring out on a country road. "There isn't a jazz orchestra within 20 miles or a telephone or doorbell, and it does seem to me that I might have your undivided attention."

"You sound so serious, Cardamon," protested the young woman with the limpid eyes.

"That's the way I intend to sound," the young man assured her, steering the car off the dusty main road on to a tree-shaded thoroughfare that proved full of rut. "Anybody—bump—bump—must have wonderful endurance and a—bump—re-inforced Lizzie. These ruts are—bump—two feet deep if they're an inch! Whachu going to do with me, anyhow, Almira?"

"H-H-Hang onto you!" gasped the young woman as she skidded from one rut into another that was worse. "If I t-t-talk, Cardamon, I'm liable to b-b-bite off my tongue when the car—bump—jounces so."

"It's time you made—bump—bump—up your mind to marry me, Almira," said the young man, "and you might as well do it now—"

"Oh, Cardamon, wait!" shrieked the young woman, preparing to clamber out of the car. "Don't you see, right ahead—there's a turkey with a flock of little ones, all in that big rut."

She was out of the car and running on ahead, shooting the plaid fowl into the ditch. The chirping infants ran in six different directions, and when she returned, wind-blown and flushed, she was prettier than ever.

"When you are so tender toward beasts of the field," objected the young man, "I can't fig—fig—bump—figure out why my sufferings make no impression on you! The other night after you had flirted so outrageously with that pious-faced doctor I never slept a wink, and he is not the man for you—"

"Why, I scarcely even spoke to him!" objected the young woman in an injured voice. "You should over—bump—come your jealous nature, because I am sure any girl who married you might have a terrible time—"

"No, she wouldn't!" promised the young man eagerly. "I am simply cut out to be a kind and loving husband—bump—band and never to speak until I am spoken to. But this affair has got to be settled and—"

"Cardamon!" cried the pretty girl, laying a hand upon his arm and anxiously peering ahead. "Look! There's a hen, a white hen, getting ready to cross the road! Don't run over her!"

"Well, why doesn't she do something?" demanded the young man, rapping the car. "First she goes half way across and then she turns back and thinks awhile! Let her look out!"

"You've killed her!" shrieked the young woman, looking back. "No, there she goes up the bank! I expect those were tail feathers! My goodness, but you must have hurt her!"

"I don't wish that hen any ill luck," said the young man savagely. "but I b-b-bump—bump—she chokes on her cornmeal mush! As I was saying, Almira, there's just one way for you to make it—confound these ruts! I can't steer the bi-blamed thing! Don't you care for me at all, Almira?"

"S-S-Sometimes I think—bump—I do, Cardamon," said the young woman, hanging tight as they rounded a turn, "and again when you glow and sulk as you—crash—bump—did the other night when poor Dr. Rilla was there, I don't approve of you at—my goodness, that was awful—at all! Oh, look! That's another chicken!"

The young man headed the car into a dogwood clump by the roadside and took her by the shoulders. "If you see another beast of the field or fowl of the air," he told her sternly, "there's going to be a massacre. I admit I showed poor judgment in the device of a road, though it has its advantages. I am going to kiss you and there's not a soul passing by to see me do it, and after I have kissed you the engagement is on and we won't talk any more about it! There!"

"Well, there doesn't seem to be anything I can do about it," the young woman admitted happily, straightening her hat after a moment. "We might as well go back the same way, don't you think so Cardamon? It really isn't such a bad road after all."

A man of much wealth and a philanthropist was approached by a former employee, who made a touching appeal for financial assistance.

"Shure, Mr. Beaman, an' it's the hardest kind o' misfortune I'm after havin'," whined Tim. "Me house an' everything in it was burned to the ground last week."

"Have you any papers or certificates to show that you have lost everything by fire, as you state?" questioned the philanthropist.

Tim scratched his head thoughtfully for a moment.

"Sure now an' I did have a certificate to that effect, signed after a notary, but unfortunately, sor, it was burned up with the rest of me effects."

SEC. SANDERS AND GOODLOE AT OXNARD

E. F. Sanders reports that about 75 secretaries of chambers of commerce in Southern California met Saturday at Oxnard for one of the largest meetings the secretaries have held. He was accompanied by Assistant Secretary Goodloe.

At 10:30 a. m., the delegates were taken on a tour of inspection of the Oxnard beet sugar factory, the largest in the world, which was running at nearly maximum, and which was built to take care of the output of 10,000 acres of sugar beets.

The big point stressed by the guides who took the group through the factory, was that California should consume this product instead of importing sugar from other states. This is an economic loss because of the high freight rate that has to be paid when California sugar has to be sent elsewhere to market.

After this tour of inspection the secretaries were taken to the wonderful community building which Oxnard maintains as a recreational center and were there given a fine dinner followed by a program in the auditorium of the community service building.

The first subject discussed was the relation of a credit men's association to the chamber of commerce. It was the consensus of opinion that in small communities the two can be merged and carried forward under one hand, but that in cities of any size, separate organizations are to be preferred.

The next topic was the "Itinerant Merchant." The point was made that at certain seasons of the year more money is in circulation than at other times, and there appears to be an organized effort on the part of some organized body to watch these conditions and send merchants with cheap merchandise into such towns to open stores for two or three months.

It was agreed that the cure for such practice is to either impose a high license fee or make an appeal to owners of buildings not to rent them for brief periods to such itinerants.

The next meeting of the secretaries will be at Yucaipa, the last Saturday in September.

BURBANK ELKS WANT OWN LODGE

Glendale Elks' lodge has an important meeting next Monday night, as it is to discuss and pass upon a resolution to approve a petition for a dispensation to organize a lodge in Burbank. As this would confine Glendale's jurisdiction to Glendale, Eagle Rock and Montrose, serious consideration will be given the matter and a large attendance is requested for next Monday night's meeting.

THE SAME OLD WISH

JAMES W. FOLEY

I'd like to play hookey again,
It's shameful to say, I agree,
But I'd like to play hookey again,
And lay me down under a tree,
With all of my troubles forgot,
With fishline and hook and a string,
And a seat by the brook in some spot
All garlanded over by Spring.

I'd like to play hookey again,
To have all the goose-pimply thrill,
That I had in the soul of me then,
When I ran down the path by the hill,
When I stooped, ducked my head and ran on Lest the eagle-eyed teacher should see,
And the troubles of me were all gone
On the stone near the brook by the tree.

I'd like to play hookey again,
When the day was so hot and so dry,
And the terror of pencil and pen
Were writ in my wild, staring eye.
Oh where is the hero who comes
To his death with a courage as fine,
As the schoolboy who walks to his sums
And as often I walked up to mine?

I want to play hookey again,
To sit by that grass bordered stream,
To put by the slate and the pen
And the book and just sit there and dream.
I know it's a sad thing to say,
And it never was done by great men,
But I'd like to put lessons away
And I want to play hookey again.

Pioneer Memorial Redwood Grove Was Dedicated at Orick

EUREKA, Sept. 4.—John Muir's interest in the Sequoia sempervirens, and his service as a pioneer in the cause of saving the redwoods was the subject of an address by Dr. William F. Bade, councillor of the Save the Redwoods League, at the dedication of the Humboldt County Pioneer Memorial grove near Orick Sunday afternoon. A considerable number of people from Humboldt and Del Norte counties, as well as visitors from San Francisco and other points throughout the state attended the simple open air exercises held at the grove, which is a 166-acre tract on the state highway, 60 miles north of Eureka, which was given to the state of California by Mrs. Zipporah Russ of Ferndale.

Judge G. W. Hunter of Eureka spoke on behalf of the local community, particularly of the Humboldt pioneers, for whom this grove is a memorial. He spoke of Joseph Russ, to whose memory Mrs. Russ asked that this grove be dedicated, and told of the qualities of early settlers who built up and developed Humboldt county. He emphasized particularly their love for the wonderful redwood forests which are now being preserved through the efforts of the Save the Redwoods League.

The Woman's Save the Redwoods League of Humboldt county, and the Del Norte County Save the Redwoods League were both represented. State Forester M. B. Pratt spoke briefly on behalf of Governor Friend W. Richardson, who was unable to attend the exercises.

In delivering the main address, Dr. Bade said: "We are here for the formal recognition of a great public service—the gift of the Russ Memorial grove to the state of California and to the nation as a thing of beauty and a joy unending, so long as man and these noble trees shall endure in the country we love. What we say and what we do here will be over and forgotten ere many suns have set, but the quiet labor of beauty which for thousands of years has continued here under the hands of the Creator, takes on a new meaning and a new continuance henceforward through the contentment of security from disfigurement or destruction."

"More and more the far-seeing men and women of our time have come to recognize that our forests perform a double function in our national life. One is to provide lumber for the dwellings and material pursuits of our people, the other is to maintain by their beauty and their grandeur the moral and physical vigor of our citizens. The one ministers to man's body, the other to his spirit. And since it has been ordained that man does not truly live until he lives by more than bread alone, a gift like this is, beyond all estimate, a contribution to the higher wealth of the nation—a noble fountain of spiritual refreshment and inspiration for ours and for coming generations."

"By arrangement of the directors of the Sierra club, some years ago James Brice, then ambassador of Great Britain to the United States, met John Muir at a private dinner in San Francisco. Being both of them great lovers of the unspoiled wildernesses of America, they deplored the fearful speed with which destruction was overtaking the shrinking remnant of our Sequoia forests, and spoke with enthusiasm of what was being saved in parks for generations unborn. Then Lord Bryce, world-famous student of the causes that make and unmake nations, ventured the remark that our national parks would ultimately contribute more to the moral strength of our nation than all the law libraries in the land! Today we proudly celebrate the giving of a new guarantee for a noble citizenship in a beautiful environment.

"This memorial area is a living monument in more senses than one. The aromatic branches of these evergreen trees will wave their tributes to the memory of Joseph Russ and other dedicated pioneers of Humboldt county far beyond the duration of any monument in bronze or stone. Above all, they symbolize the continuing beneficence of the dead to the living. If I mistake not, this is the first time that one of our own California pioneers of the Redwood belt has established such a memorial and the officers of the Save the Redwoods League sincerely hope that others may follow the noble example of Zipporah Russ."
